Changes to the format of the examination

The sample examination paper at the end of the Introduction to sociology subject guide does not reflect the current format of the examination.

Your examination will require you to answer a total of three questions. You should answer all questions from Section A and one question from Section D. In addition, you will be required to answer one question from either Section B or Section C.

Section A will be marked out of a possible 40 marks. The essay questions from Sections B or C, and D, will be marked out of a possible 30 marks.

Please use the past examination papers for 2000, 2001 and 2002 to prepare yourself for your examination. (Please note that 2001/2002 examination papers are available online: www.londonexternal.ac.uk/studentarea/lse/intro_exams.shtml)

Candidates are reminded that the sociological theories that are required for Section A are also required to answer the essay questions successfully.
